MORE HOME RULE FOR COUNTIES IS PROPOSED

AUTHORITIES PROBING MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF MRS. JEAN BROOKS, 24

Mrs. Jean Brooks, 24 years old and the mother of three small children, was found shot to death last night at 11 o'clock at her home on the Canton road about a mile from the city. Mrs. Brooks had been shot by a .30.30 Winchester rifle which was loaded with a soft nosed bullet and the entire top of her head was carried away by the shot. Her husband, Robert Brooks, L. E. Lewis and Henry McLaughlin, neighbors, were in the barn of Mr. Lewis at the rear of the house treating an ailing cow at the time of the shooting, according to information available last night. When Brooks returned to his house he found the body of his wife on the floor. He ran to the home of Lewis next door and troopers were notified. District Attorney William D. Ingram and Coroners Physician Dr. R. L. Stacy were summoned and commenced an investigation. Troopers J. H. Thorpe and G. W. Kidney of the State Police are on the case. Examination of the room and exterior of the house showed that the bullet had passed out through a pane of glass in a window located almost at right angles to the position of the body. Glass from this window, stained with blood, was found in the yard. The rifle was lying beside the body. Rene LeMaitre of the Paris studio was called to the scene at midnight and took several photographs of the body for use in the investigation of the case. Mr. Brooks was unable to advance any theory that might have led his wife to take her life last night. The three small children of the Brooks' were being cared for at the Lewis home. Mr. Lewis conducts a garbage collection business in the city and Brooks is employed as a driver of one of the garbage wagons.

New Hampshire Senator Favors Treaty--Mayor Of New York Joins Advocates

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Senator Fred H. Brown of New Hampshire has joined the St. Lawrence treaty advocates in the senate. Another important accession today was announced in the person of Mayor LaGuardia of New York, who sent a letter to Senator La Follette, declaring that the metropolis had nothing to fear from the seaway. This expressly repudiates all opposition arguments emanating from New York city. Indications are that the treaty forces are steadily gaining ground that it is freely predicted in Washington tonight that the prospects for ratification are very bright. Senator Brown said that "broad national reasons lead me with President Roosevelt in supporting the St. Lawrence treaty." The New Hampshire Senator appealed to his colleagues to approach the question on national and not sectional lines, declaring that the advantages to the entire nation would more than outweigh this country's portion of the construction costs of the seaway. "The Republican party endorsed this waterway in its national platform," he concluded. "President Roosevelt as a candidate committed his party to it. Both candidates in their campaign declared in favor of it and I propose to uphold the President in carrying out a pledge which he made to the American people." Senator Fess, Republican Senate whip, announced he would vote for the treaty, having taken that position when it was advocated by Republican Presidents. Interrupting a verbal passage between Senator Long and Senator Wheeler during the debate, Senator Vandenberg suggested to Senator Long that he read Ecclesiastes 10:13. Senator Long ignored the reference, declaring that he was not familiar with its application. He then said to the treaty advocates: "There is none so blind as those who have eyes and see not, and none so deaf as those who have ears and hear not." Senator Vandenberg's biblical quotation reads: "The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishness and of his talk is mischievous madness." LaGuardia For Treaty (Please turn to Page 2)

COUNTY HOME-RULE URGED BY LEHMAN IN DRASTIC REFORM

ALBANY, March 9.—Counties would enjoy a grant of home rule as broad as that now vested in the cities under a plan offered by Governor Lehman in a special message to the Legislature. It would bring up to date the archaic government of these important political units. To carry out the Governor's recommendations Assemblyman George R. Kelly, a Monroe County Democrat, introduced a proposed constitutional amendment that would empower and direct the Legislature to prepare optional forms of county government to be adopted by counties only after approval by popular vote at a referendum. The Governor also urged the Legislature to broaden the powers of the present Mastick commission studying improvements in the tax laws to include a study of county governments. The commission has already given thought to this subject, and Senator Mastick is the sponsor of a concurrent resolution proposing constitutional amendments along lines very similar to the new Lehman recommendation. A bill to carry this recommendation into effect was introduced today by Assemblyman Joseph A.

Nicosia, Democrat, of Erie County. Several constitutional amendments resembling the amendment introduced following the governor's recommendations and some statutory legislation contemplating reforms in county administrations are already before the Legislature. There are bills to change the constitution, sponsored in the Senate by Senators Mastick and Thomas C. Desmond of Orange County, as well as by George R. Fearon, Republican leader. Only the Mastick resolution has been reported, and that was subsequently sent back to committee. NEW AIR MAIL BILL WASHINGTON, March 9.—A bill was introduced in the United States Senate today tending toward the re-placing of government air mail contract with private firms. President Roosevelt favors this move provided certain provisions are incorporated and various companies reorganized. Albany.—O'Connell to take stand again today in trial of his alleged kidnaper. Albany.—Hope for quick action on Lehman's utilities program dimmed by G. O. P.

Civil Air Lines Will Refly the Mail Under Control of Government

WASHINGTON, March 9. President Roosevelt has broken the threatened impasse regarding the world's biggest air-mail system. The air mail is going back to private operation on terms recommended yesterday by the President. With Congress preparing to act quickly on these recommendations the last chapter in one of the most extraordinary incidents in modern government seems to be in sight. Mr. Roosevelt's terms follow: There shall be "full, open and fair competitive bidding." Collusive bidding agreements are barred under penalty of contract forfeiture. Airmail carriers must divorce all affiliates. Holding companies are barred. No company may bid which has among its officers men who were party to obtaining former contracts under circumstances which were clearly contrary to good faith and public policy. Companies may have six months to work out financial and administrative reorganization. "Excessive" salaries and bonuses are banned. The U. C. C. is made arbiter of air-mail pay, routes and contracts as it is of mail carried by the railroads. The most drastic of the presidential provisions is that requiring future air-mail bidders to divest themselves of all officials who participated in previous contracts, alleged to have been "contrary to good faith." This phrase is interpreted here as meaning aviation officials who took part in the famous post office conferences summoned by Mr. Walter F. Brown, Postmaster-General, in the summer of 1929. From a financial and practical viewpoint, the provision requiring a complete "unscrambling" of the big aviation companies aroused most immediate comment, and will probably transcend in importance every other requirement.
