

Defending Champs

Section 3 Matmen Eye State Meet

Tuning up for the New York State Intersectional wrestling tournament slated here at the Onondaga County War Memorial Friday and Saturday, the local Section Three wrestlers will hold a team workout at 4 p.m. today at North Syracuse High.

Section Three is the defending state champion, having scored 91 points a year ago to win the event. This year's team, which figures to be led by Roger Voorhis of Indian River at 126, Rick Alger of Norwich at 132 and Jim Rosecrans of West Genesee at 215, appears capable of repeating its first-place showing.

The complete sectional squad includes: Jerry Jacobson (23-1) of Fulton at 98 pounds, Sal Frank (24-0-1) of Rome Free Academy at 105, freshman Dan Hunt (17-3) of West Genesee at 112, Lloyd Weigel (26-1) of Chittenango at 119, Voorhis (25-0) at 126, Alger (25-1) at 132, Stu Gilete (24-1) of Indian River at 138 and Dale Porter (26-0) of South Jefferson at 145.

However, Porter, the "most outstanding wrestler" at last Saturday's tourney, suffered a leg injury playing basketball last night and may be forced out of action this week. If so, runnerup Nick Porillo (23-2) of North Syracuse would substitute.
