WELCOME!! TO SPENCERPORT AND THE 11TH ANNUAL LIONS TOURNAMENT

The achievement of varsity experience is an important opportunity to offer young men. A large part of the justification for inter-scholastic sports is the belief that it fosters an understanding of the nature of competition.

The habit of study and habit of exercising, support the training of the mind and the body. It is hoped that inter-scholastic competition will help our young men to see the relationship between effort and achievement. This relationship seems to me to be most in evidence in the competitive preparation for wrestling.

Please accept my best wishes for a successful tournament.

Wilbur R. Selander
Principal
Spencerport High School

The Tournament Committee appreciates and thanks the LIONS CLUB of SPENCERPORT for their cooperation in establishing this tournament.

MESSAGE

Welcome to the Spencerport Lions Invitational Tournament. It is the hope of the Tournament Committee that you will enjoy this day of wrestling.

Wrestling has made rapid gains in stature and is now recognized as one of the best of athletic sports in terms of its ability to promote total physical fitness. It is rapidly gaining in popularity as a competitive activity. Wrestling is not only fine exercise, but it is also a fascinating game. A new situation arises with every move the wrestler makes; at one moment he is on the offense, and the next moment he is on the defense. Through wrestling, a boy develops determination.....self-confidence... the desire to win.....and faith in himself.

Practically all the interschool athletics are dominated by older boys. Many sports have special requirements such as height, weight, or build. But every type of boy can take part in wrestling with good results. No matter how heavy or light a boy may be, no matter how old he is, or what physical type, there is always a place for him on a squad. He may not be adapted for some sports, but every boy is suited for wrestling. It is as natural for men to wrestle as it is for a duck to swim.

Every growing boy takes pride in his physical prowess. The desire for physical superiority is so real and deep-seated that he is anxious to do everything possible to mold a perfect body. Certainly wrestling has much to offer. Educators, coaches, and sports writers have praised wrestling as being unsurpassed by any other form of athletics for achieving symmetrical body development. Every muscle of the body is put to use; therefore, no one group is over-developed to the exclusion of any other.

In many cases, a boy who reports for wrestling with an under-developed body has built a powerful, graceful body, equipped with a strong organic system by the time his school career is over.

The authorities of amateur wrestling have never allowed tradition to stand in the way of improvement. There has been a constant revision of the rules. Our present wrestling bears little resemblance to the style of twenty years ago or that shown on television today. New ideas have been tried. Those that were good have been incorporated into the rules. The Rules Committee have based their changes on the following objectives: (1) to safeguard the wrestler from injury; (2) to make the sport enjoyable to the participants; (3) to make it interesting to the spectators.
