The New York 100

featuring New York State's most successful high school wrestlers for the 1989-90 season

First Annual Edition

April, 1990

Compiled by New York Wrestling News

Attention, Media Members:

The following is a ranking of the top 100 high school wrestlers in New York State. It was done by New York Wrestling News, an independent periodical devoted to amateur wrestling in New York. Except for California, New York has more high school wrestling programs (592) than any other state in the country.

Please publish this information, as many of your readers will find it interesting reading. On the pages that follow is an index of wrestlers by school, to help you easily locate athletes in your Section.

Thanks for your cooperation!!!

The First Annual New York 100

The 1990 New York 100 is our first attempt at recognizing and spotlighting the vast talent of wrestling in New York State. As we know, wrestling is not the most popular sport in this country. In fact, despite the huge numbers of wrestling programs nationwide, not a lot is written about the sport.

Much of the blame for this situation is our own. We complain about the lack of coverage, but fail to make the media aware of our athletes' accomplishments.

Well, this is our way of heightening awareness of some of New York's finest high school wrestlers. It's not meant to be an indicator of future success. It's just our best effort at a ranking based on career wins and state place-finishes.

In addition, it's unfortunate that we will undoubtedly overlook some very good wrestlers. Hopefully, in the future, more coaches will contribute to this ranking, making The New York 100 more representative of New York Wrestling.

That's the top 100 according to our formula. Hopefully, we will be able to rank based on a more complex formula next year, taking into account Sectional and holiday tournaments, and perhaps even off-season wrestling.

Once again, please remind your high school coaches to submit information to us on a regular basis. We feel that there are many other excellent wrestlers who have not been given their just recognition because we just don't know about them.

The 1990 New York 100 Honorable Mention

Several of these young men were very close to being in the New York 100. Unfortunately, for some of them, we were unable to obtain updated career information from their coaches. Hopefully, we will be able to get more coach participation next year to make our rankings more representative of the talent in New York State.
