Unlike the flamboyant style of professional wrestlers who are continually putting on a show, high school wrestling is a sport that tests the strength and skill of both competitors.

There are seven wrestlers this season who have survived this test to win at least three matches.

Carl Beck, who is well on his way to a second undefeated season, has a record of six wins and no losses. His brother Al is following in the tradition and has four wins against no defeats.

Burt Fugle now has six wins and no defeats as has Ken Mooney. Jim Cochrane and Gary Wolcott both have five wins and no losses while Pat Leyden is undefeated in his first year of wrestling with a four-nothing record.

The other team members are doing a fine job also, working to give the wrestling team an undefeated season. When wrestling started this year, the grapplers had to share the gym with the basketball team for their practice sessions, resulting in crowded conditions for both groups, and so the wrestlers, under the direction of Coach Bob Conk, remodeled and painted the lower gym for their use.
