

WRESTLING

First Row: Rathke, Fink.
Second Row: Misiak, Harris, Jerge, Jacobs.

Varsity Coach Robert Wilson
Assistant Coach Eugene Hiller

The same difficulty which hampered the efforts of the fencing team, lack of manpower, sabotaged the wrestlers in 1942. At the outset there were only six men on the squad to wrestle in seven weight classes. Matches were lost to Alfred and Rochester Mechanics Institute. Then the team completely disintegrated. One man broke a rib and another was forced to withdraw from competition to devote more time to his studies. As a result, coach Wilson had only four men to wrestle in seven weight classes. Further competition under these conditions was impossible. The matches at Toronto and at Alfred and the home finale against Case had to be cancelled.
