

Wrestling

Despite the fact that the whole first year of recognized intercollegiate wrestling at the University of Buffalo was very unsuccessful as far as wins and losses are concerned, the members of the small squad must be complimented on the fine interest and spirit that they showed. Six meets composed the season's schedule and each of these ended in a loss for the Bulldogs. However, the high calibre of the teams met must also be taken into account, and such teams as Syracuse, Case, Toronto, and Alfred are ranked very high in intercollegiate wrestling circles.

Coach Van Bibber was forced to work with only eleven men and with these men he had to fill the nine positions on the team. Thus, the same old story—lack of material—creeps into the wrestling picture also. The men that composed the squad were Zent, Campbell, Benny, Urbanowitz, Pearson, Noshay, MacGamwell, Hall, Swartout, and Nagel. From the squad Bud Pearson was elected captain for next year.

Second row: Swartout, White, Zent, Noshay.
