Results of the recent reapportionment questionnaire, relative to the 85 percent vs. 15 percent, shows that the students are overwhelmingly in favor of retaining the present arrangement of the Student Activity Fee. While official figures are not available, it is rumored that the Business Administration school voted 10 to 1 in favor of the present distribution and in the Pharmacy school 98 percent of the students favored maintenance of the fee as it now stands. Although results of the voting in the Professional schools and the Arts college were not available at this writing every indication points to a victory for Athletics.

These results should serve to silence the advocates of reapportionment and their cry that the majority of the students wanted a redistribution of the fees. The findings also boost the stock of athletics at the University. Realizing the seriousness of the situation and the fact that the fate of intercollegiate athletics hung in the balance, the majority of the students were outspoken in their reply to those who felt that athletics, financially, at least, are over-emphasized at U. B.

Having successfully hurdled their first obstacle in the path that leads to intercollegiate wrestling fame, the U. B. mat team looks forward to the Colgate engagement to be held in Buffalo, February 9. The Bulldogs are jubilant over their recent victory at Alfred and with the experience gained in that tourney behind them, they are confident of tossing the Colgate wrestlers for a loss.

The U. B. grapplers had to wage an up-hill battle in that Alfred tournament in order to clinch the meet. The Saxons started out as though they were going to make a clean sweep of the meet. Alfred won the first three out of four matches, running up a 15-3 lead. Things began to look anything but rosy for the Bulldogs until Jack Seubert's quick victory in the 155-pound class turned the tide of battle. Wins by Bob Rich and Stan Zuk clinched the meet for the Bulldogs and made the wrestling debut a successful one.

To Andy Lehr, coach of the local mat team, goes the lion's share of the glory for his charges' initial victory. He worked hard with the boys last year, most of them had no experience in wrestling whatsoever, and moulded together an outfit that in its first season of competition finished second to Syracuse in the Niagara A. A. U. tournament last winter. With this nucleus of potential stars Andy developed a team that was capable last Saturday of defeating one of the best wrestling aggregations in the State.

Congratulations, Andy, in getting off to a flying start. Here's hoping the U. B. matmen keep one step ahead of their opponents.

Michigan State's invasion of the East far from proved the supremacy of mid-western basketball over the game as played in Eastern college circles. After downing the Bulldogs in a closely contested battle, the Spartans dropped a game on the following night to the tricky Syracuse sharp shooters. While not in the habit of offering alibis for a loss, we believe that with additional reserve strength and the presence of Marsh Stoll in the game for the entire route, the outcome of the game might have been a different story. Stoll was more than playing on even terms with Buysse, the highly-touted State center, and the big blond's exit seemed to be a signal for the triumphant spurt of the Spartans.

With the Niagara game now a matter of past history, the Powellmen seek a win over the Alfred cagers, conquerors of the Purple Eagles in a recent court battle. The Saxons boast of a light, but smart outfit of basketballers and offer as proof of their prowess four straight victories this season. The down-staters possess brilliant defensive strength and heavy offensive artillery. Every man on the squad is a scoring threat of A-1 caliber and they should prove a formidable array on their home court tomorrow night.

Intermural wrestlers will welcome the announcement from Mr. Neil's office relative to the novice mat tourney which will be open only to non-varsity grapplers. The exact date for this meet had not been determined but it is likely that it will take place late in February.

This will offer the inexperienced wrestler, who is not quite up to varsity caliber, an opportunity to compete with men in his own class. It will also give Andy Lehr, mat coach, the chance to get a look at future varsity material.

In the account of the tryout for the Alfred meet, covered in the sport page of the BEE last week, it was stated that Dave Corbett defeated Carl Serusa in the final match of the 118-pound class. This was erroneously stated. Serusa, and not Corbett, was the winner of the match. Carl pinned his opponent in 3 minutes and 5 seconds to win the bout. Sorry for this slip-up.

Jerry Hannon, manager of the wrestling team, informs us that negotiations have been opened with several Eastern colleges in an endeavor to secure meets with some of the best collegiate mat teams in the country. St. Lawrence, Manhattan, Rutgers, Dartmouth, Cornell, Lehigh, and Columbia are only a few of the institutions that have been contacted for future tournaments. Every effort will be made to bring some of these teams to Buffalo.

Wouldn't it look great to read in the headlines how a U. B. mat team defeated the grapplers from Cornell or Lehigh?

It will be necessary for the intermural basketballers in League B to play another round of basketball in order to settle the league championship. The Hit and Miss quintet and the Pentagons are tied for first place and the rivalry is so intense between these two teams that their next court battle should be a corker.

Another round of play begins early in February and the present leaders may find it hard going to stay on top. With the exception of the Blue Lillies, who seem hopelessly out-classed, any one of the other teams in the league has a grand chance to dislodge the leaders and capture top honors.

Lawyer Says Bison Needs More Ads

William Lawyer, editor of The Bison ("to-be"), said in an interview Thursday evening that the staff had come through splendidly in getting in copy. There are "reams and reams" of all kinds of material, according to Bill, and it's all excellent. The students are interested in the new Bison and the editor has no doubts about their support.

Due to delays in securing sufficient advertising, the production of the magazine has been suspended for the duration of the examination period.

The national advertisers have a policy of not advertising in the first issue of publications, consequently the Bison must for the first time rely upon so-called "local" advertisements.

Niagara Beats U. B.

In a typical Buffalo-Niagara court battle the Purple Eagles took the measure of the Bulldogs by the score of 36-29 at St. Vincent's gym Wednesday night and thereby kept intact a home-game win streak that extended through 25 consecutive contests. "Taps" Gallagher, youthful mentor of the Cataracts, got out of a sickbed to direct his charges to their rousing victory.

The staff wishes to solicit the support of all students who can in any way get advertising for the Bison. "In this way the production can be speeded up and the success you expect guaranteed," said Mr. Lawyer.

Only the Center Leaves are used in LUCKIES

For these are the Mildest and fully ripened for perfect smoking

We buy only the center leaves for Luckies. Not the top leaves for they are under-developed. Not the bottom leaves for they are inferior in quality. Only the center leaves for these are truly mild and fully ripe. And that's the fine tobacco we use—to make Luckies so round, so firm, so fully packed—free from loose ends that spill out. That's why Luckies are always mild, always truly mild. And remember, "It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste.
