Eight consecutive victories over New York State teams gave the Larry grapplers the third undefeated season enjoyed by a St. Lawrence mat squad in 13 years. Thus, Capt. Rennie Curlew and his men followed in the footsteps of the 1934-35 and 1937-38 squads as they perpetuated the college's tradition of strong wrestling squads.

Curlew and Bill Hayden, wrestling in the 128-pound and 155-pound classes respectively, were undefeated in individual matches as their team conquered Champlain twice, Alfred, Ithaca, Colgate, Mohawk, Buffalo and Rochester Technical Institute.

By their accomplishments, the Larries raised the school's all-time collegiate record to a grand total of 75 wins, 23 losses and five ties. Coach Roy Clogston, in mentoring his third undefeated squad, raised his personal record to 55 wins and 11 losses in the nine years he has coached the sport.

Late-season newcomers helped the squad as it gained strength and experience as the season progressed. Bill Sywetz won seven of his eight heavyweight matches, four of them by falls; Dick Furman won seven of his eight contests and Jim Dowling won four of five.
