tling team will unquestionably go down in Penn State history as the most successful team that ever used the State mats from the beginning of the game at State until the present time. Finishing the season with a clean slate, the State grapplers had the satisfaction of defeating three of the Intercollegiate Wrestling Association teams, and finally of being admitted to the Association, an honor which State has sought for many years.

for turning out such a successful team. With but two of last year's varsity men to start with, the coach had a hard task to get his men in shape. Boston Tech, was the first opponent to appear, and the visiting team left with State holding the long end of a twenty-eight-nothing score.

"Pittsburgh was State's next victim. Thirtyfour to nothing showed the superiority of the Blue and White grapplers again, and the team was going in championship style. The next battle was at South Bethlehem, where Lehigh was defeated twenty-one to eight. State was not in as good condition as previously, but managed to get the majority of the bouts.

The best meet of the season was with Cornell, the Intercollegiate Champions. The Ithacans were unable to stand the aggressiveness of Captain Long's men, and the final score gave State twenty-one points to nine for Cornell. Princeton came next for the State grapplers, and the Tiger's shoulders touched the velvet to the tune of twenty-three to four.

In the final meet, State defeated Navy twenty-one to ten. This victory was the most decisive score against the middles in a long time, and served as a final revenge for the meet lost last season.
