

Clarence Red Devils 1983-1984 Wrestling

The 1984 Clarence Varsity Red Devils Wrestling Team is said to be the best in Clarence Wrestling history. They were the first Clarence team to beat Iroquois.

Our team is ranked first in Western New York and twenty-sixth in New York State. When reached for comment, all Tony Rotundo had to say was "we're good."

Team leaders include Jeff Ellis, Dave Damico, Bill Gibson and Tony Rotundo. All of the aforementioned competed in the intersectionals. Tony Rotundo placed third and Jeff Ellis is going on to compete in States where he is expected to do very well. This reporter, when talking to a bunch of Jeff's peers, found that the general feeling about Jeff's wrestling ability is "he's great!"

The team's overall record this year was 13 wins and one loss. Next year returning to the team will be six of this year's Juniors so, needless to say, the team will continue its winning ways. In closing I will leave you with this comment by Dan Herr which sums up the way the Clarence Wrestling Team feels about themselves — "we're incredible!"

Oh, and if you see them walking down the hall, run, their egos might bury you alive.

Row 1: Bill Gibson, Scott Hartwig, Mike Maier, Dan Uhteg, Charlie Fischer, Dan Herr
Row 2: John Haley, Gary Reid, Dave Shefter, Steve Kinsman, Rick Anastasi, Greg Schuller, Tony Rotundo
Row 3: Steven Skorupski, Dave D'Amico, Jon Vesper, Jeff Ellis, Brian Smith, Pat Leman, Greg Kaszubski (Coach)

Clarence Red Devils 1983-1984 Wrestling

These junior mat men are alot tougher than they look. Through the season thse guys were forced to survive on a diet consisting only of raw meat. Encouraged to practice as much as possible, these guys would be seen frequently attacking helpless young women, and in general terrorizing the halls of Clarence Senior High School. Obviously all this intensive training paid off because the team had a very successful season.

Row 1: Dennis Honsberger, Ken Pickering, Doxy Quinlan, John Longfieldsmith, Rob Janusz
Row 2: Lee Krawczak, Greg Gleason, Pete Gould, Paul Meyer, Todd Davis, Tony Smith
Row 3: Tony Mattina, Paul Crapsi, Tom Kelkenberg, Brian Spoth