Edison Tech Inventors
 1953-1954 Wrestling

Wrestling at Edison has enjoyed tremendous popularity, and we have had more than our share of success. However, 1953 was not one of those years, for misfortune and injuries seemed to plague us at every match. Individually some of our wrestlers performed with great credit both to themselves and to Tech. As a heavyweight contender, Ray Jobes emerged as an outstanding competitor, and for this Ray deserves to be complimented. It was his first year in interscholastic wrestling. Local sports writers gave considerable attention and space to our veterans Dan Weber, Ed Mapes, Ron and Jim Billitier. We are confident that next year will bring greater success to the wrestling team of Tech.
